RESIDENT HANDBOOK

A man and a woman are cooking together in a kitchen. The woman, on the left, has long dark hair and is wearing a white ribbed sweater. She is smiling and looking down at a wooden pepper mill. The man, on the right, has short dark hair and is wearing a blue sweater. He is also looking down at the pepper mill. They are both holding the pepper mill, which is a dark wood. In the background, there is a wall with light-colored square tiles. A bottle of red wine and a bowl of cherry tomatoes are on the counter. The overall atmosphere is warm and inviting.

SECTION SIX

FIRE SAFETY AND PREVENTION

Many household fires are easily avoided by following some simple precautions. You should adhere to the simple guidelines below to ensure that your risk of fire is minimised.

- Take care when closing doors and ensure that you have your key with you. All doors/entrances are self-closing however, please ensure they close and latch shut behind you at all times
- Don't prop doors open (including fire doors)
- If you have any concerns about the safety of any equipment in your apartment or common areas, contact the on-site team immediately
- You should test the smoke and heat alarms at least once a month. To do this, press and hold the 'test' button until you hear an alarm; if the alarm does not sound, this indicates that the unit is either defective or requires battery replacement. Please notify the on-site team if you notice anything wrong with the smoke detector
- Ensure the keys to your doors are easily accessible in the event of a fire
- Take additional care when cooking with hot oils; ensure that there are no flammable materials located near heated oils
- Smoking is not permitted in communal areas or your apartment, including balconies
- Ensure that communal areas, including stairways are not obstructed in any way by obstacles
- Your apartment entrance is equipped with a fire door. They are designed to automatically close behind you in the event of fire, holding flames back and stopping the spread of the fire and toxic smoke into escape routes, corridors, and other flats in the block. In the event of a fire and when leaving the apartment, please ensure these doors are closed behind you. The doors are equipped with self-closing devices, please make sure these are not tampered with and any faults or damage to doors should be raised immediately
- E-scooters, e-bikes, and their lithium-ion batteries are not permitted inside the building, including cycle stores, apartments and balconies, due to the significant fire risks they pose. These devices can overheat or malfunction during charging, potentially leading to dangerous fires that spread rapidly in enclosed residential spaces. To ensure the safety of residents and property, it is strongly recommended that all charging and storage of such equipment be conducted in designated, well-ventilated areas outside of living units, in accordance with fire safety regulations and building policies

SMOKE AND HEAT DETECTION

- Your home and building has been fitted with smoke detection to ensure that you will be immediately alerted to the presence of a fire

- Kitchens are fitted with heat detectors (instead of smoke detectors). This is to ensure that any smoke generated by cooking does not trigger the alarm
- It is important to check your heat and smoke alarms regularly to ensure that they are working correctly. You must personally conduct regular inspections of the smoke/heat detector(s) within your apartment and are expected to co-operate with any inspection of detectors conducted or arranged by the on-site team

The detectors are connected to the mains power supply, and are also linked to a backup power supply to ensure their continued function in the event of a power cut.

STAY PUT POLICY

It's vital that you know what to do in the event of a fire. Your building operates a 'Stay put policy' strategy. This means that only those areas of the building effected by the fire are required to evacuate. This standard approach relies on a high degree of compartmentation being provided in residential areas of the building. This prevents fire from spreading within the building while the fire is extinguished. Further evacuation of the apartments will not take place unless instigated by fire service, management, or the independent actions of occupants.

AMENITY AREAS

In the event of a fire within the amenity space, detectors and beacons will provide warning to occupants to enable simultaneous evacuation. Amenity areas will evacuate if a fire is detected anywhere in the amenity spaces or common parts (such as the residential corridors).

ACTION TO BE TAKEN UPON DISCOVERING A FIRE

IF A FIRE BREAKS OUT IN YOUR HOME:

- Upon hearing the alarm or identifying a fire in your apartment, evacuate the apartment immediately and report the fire to the on-site team
- Attempt to make everyone in your apartment aware of the fire, immediately leave and ensure that the front door is closed behind you (this will help prevent the fire from spreading)
- Call the fire and rescue service on 999 immediately
- Evacuate the building – do not use the passenger lift in the event of a fire. Wait at the evacuation assembly point
- Note that if a sprinkler system is installed this will activate in the event that a fire breaks out in your apartment

IF A FIRE BREAKS OUT IN ANOTHER PART OF THE BUILDING:

- If you identify a fire, observe smoke, or feel heat you should evacuate the building and inform the on-site team immediately
- If you are in doubt of your own safety, you should leave the building by the nearest evacuation route

HOW THE FIRE BRIGADE (AND ANY OTHER EMERGENCY SERVICES) ARE TO BE CALLED AND WHO IS RESPONSIBLE:

A person discovering a fire and the senior member of staff at the time MUST call the Fire Service by dialing 999. Provide the following information

- Service required – Fire Service
- State “Fire in residential building”
- Give full address
- Give the fire brigade any information about the fire that is available

SECTION SEVEN

REFUSE, RECYCLING AND GREEN INITIATIVES

Food waste disposal bins will be provided by the council. Food waste to be taken to the bin stores and disposed of in the appropriate bin
